HUNTING FOR THE BODY

A Party Will Try to Find George Colgate's Remains.

WHERE HE WAS LEFT TO DIE

Experienced Trappers and Guides Are Now in the Mountains of the Clearwater Where They Went for the "Standard."

MISSOULA, June 1.—A special courier reached this city this afternoon from Lo Lo Hot Springs with a message from the STANDARD's expedition, which left here last week to secure the remains of Colgate, the cook who was abandoned last fall by the Carlin party in their flight from the Clearwater country. The party consists of the veteran guides, Harry Wright and Martin Spencer, and George R. Ogden, who accompanied them as the STANDARD's correspondent. This party reached Lo Lo Hot Springs early in the week and have been camped there while making preparations to cross the divide into the Clearwater country.

The dispatches which the courier brought in today contained the information that Wright and Spencer had made a trip to the Clearwater and found from two to ten feet of snow on the summit, but the snow is very hard and is therefore easy to cross with animals. The Clearwater is so high that they found it necessary to cross by means of a raft and a bridge, and the party expected to be able to get across yesterday.

It will be remembered that Spencer is the guide who led the Fort Missoula relief expedition. These men have a light pack train and are well provisioned for the trip. The letter which was sent in today stated that the prospects are good for a speedy return and the conditions seemed favorable for the recovery of Colgate's remains.

Another expedition having the same object in view was to have left today under the guidance of Ben Keeley, a guide and trapper, who accompanied Carlin and his friends in the retreat from the snow last November. It is supposed they will go in the interests of the Missoulian. They did not get away today, however, and probably will not get away before Monday. The prospects are it will be a race between the two parties and the outcome will be watched with interest.

William Toole and a party of three drove down from Hamilton this morning. The trip was a difficult one as the water is very high and the fords are dangerous.

High water in the Bitter Root has taken away half of the Hedges dam at Riverside and a large portion of the logs stored behind it were lost down the stream.

The funeral of Mrs. Charles Menges was held this afternoon.

The demoralized condition of the Northern Pacific west of here continues and no westbound train has yet reached here.

Tom B. Miller came over from Helena this afternoon to assist in the adjustment of the loss on the Houston property in Sunday's fire. Peter Winne of Helena and Charles Eltinge of Butte have been here some days on the same business. It is expected the loss will be adjusted tomorrow.

A meeting of the White Cloud Mining company was held this afternoon, and the question of granting an extension of time on the bond now held on the property was considered. The time for the second payment expires to-night, and, though no decision was reached, it is not believed that the extension of time will be granted.

LOST IN THE FLOOD.

A Fatal Attempt to Ford the High Water in a Carriage.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

STEVENSVILLE, June 1.—Yesterday Mrs. May Dougherty and Miss Nora Goff attempted to cross the ford at Major Phelps' place in a buggy. The current was so swift that the horse, the buggy and its occupants were carried down stream. The ladies shouted for help and Mrs. Dougherty was taken from the water more dead than alive, while her unfortunate companion could not be reached and drifted down stream. Miss Goff was finally taken from the water some 300 yards below the ford. Every effort to bring the lady back to life proved ineffectual, though she had been in the water but a short time. Mrs. Dougherty is very low, but it is thought she will recover. Several accidents of a like nature are reported throughout the valley but as far as can be learned this is the only instance where life has been lost.

STREAMS RUNNING RAMPANT.

The Bitter Root Above High Water Mark and the Bridges Going Out.

Special Dispatch to the Standard.

STEVENSVILLE, Mont., June 1.—The Bitter Root river has been rising steadily since Sunday and is now an inch above the highest water mark. If the warm weather keeps up it will go still higher. It is reported that the middle pier in the railroad bridge at Riverside is about to go out and that the Bell bridge, near Victor, has gone down the stream and is lodged on the island. For the past few days people have been using the wagon road and the old high water trail in their trips up and down the valley, but to-day they are obliged to take it on foot along the railroad, as the smaller streams are so swollen that fording became impossible and the bridges unsafe. One of the bridges near Fort Owen went out today, which renders the big bridge across the Bitter Root at this place useless except for foot passengers. Burnt Fork, or Scatter Creek, is on the rampage, a large portion of the Burnt Fork district being flooded.

ANOTHER TOUGH STORY.

Kings County Has Jailors Who Are Worse Criminals Than the Jail Birds.

BROOKLYN, June 1.—A list of rather formidable charges against certain unnamed employees of the Kings county penitentiary has been formulated by Henry J. Taft, an ex-convict, who was released from that institution about a month ago. Taft alleges murder, attempted murder, robbery, neglect and other offenses in a document which he says will be presented to the attorney general of the state of New York. Taft was in the penitentiary about two years, serving a term of grand larceny. He is a physician, a registered chemist and was educated at the Bellevue Hospital Medical college and the New York College of Pharmacy. He says in his paper that he asks the aid of no convict, nor does he need his own testimony to substantiate his charges; that the public records will be sufficient. He says that convicts were murdered for the purpose of robbery. He states that a convict named Robert Vesia was poisoned by arsenic by an employee, for the purpose of robbery, about June, 1893. He says the robbery was committed after the man was dead, and that he knows where the goods are at the present time. In the month of December, 1893, he says another murder was committed by an employee, a man named Meli being poisoned. No money was found, however. Taft says the corner's inquest was a farce.

BUSINESS LOOKING BETTER.

There Were Fifty-Five Fewer Failures This May Than the One Last Year.

NEW YORK, June 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Sales of wool at the chief markets have been 1,364,000 pounds for the week, against 2,775,000 last year, about 6,000 pounds per week being required from those markets for a full supply. New fine territory and Texas wool has sold at 8 1/2 cents lower, at 31 1/2 cents cleaned. Liabilities reported in the failures for the fourth week of May were $2,593,087 and for the four weeks ending May 24, $11,391,012, of which $4,415,565 were of manufacturing and $5,085,891 of trading concerns. The reports yet to come may increase the aggregate to $14,000,000 for the month. The failures this week were 183 against 238 last year.

SPREAD NOT SPEEDY ENOUGH.

Kelly Stole a March on Him When It Came to a Show Down.

ST. LOUIS, June 1.—Kelly's army left St. Louis after a lively scrimmage with Spread's soldiers. Kelly stole a march on Spread, secretly putting all the rations on board the commissary boat under guard. The Kellyites captured 100 boats, but his men could not get all in. Two hundred marched to Carondelet, where the naval forces joined them for breakfast. Spread's followers intend to sell the 28 boats they have and go overland.

After Kelly's departure, Marshal McCambridge of Madison appeared with a warrant for his arrest on the charge of attempting to shoot Patrick P. Holdenman near Alton a week ago. Kelly has not since touched Illinois.

Running Behind by Millions.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The comparative statement of the receipts and expenditures of the United States during the month of May and during the 11 months of the present fiscal year, shows receipts for May to have been $23,000,994, and expenditures $29,779,140, leaving a deficiency for the month of $6,778,146. The receipts for the 11 months aggregated $270,474,410, and the expenditures $341,039,337, leaving a deficit for the 11 months of $70,564,927. During May the receipts from customs were $9,708,067, against $15,424,858 during May, 1893. The receipts from internal revenue were $12,041,950, against $13,212,163 for May of last year. The expenditures on account of pensions were about $1,300,000 less than for May of last year. The monthly statement of the director of the mint shows that the total coinage of the mints of the United States during May, 1894, was $9,120,450, of which $8,445,450 was gold coinage and $675,000 was silver.

The Government's Dollars and Cents.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The monthly debt statement issued to-day shows a net cash balance in the treasury of $117,854,330, of which $78,691,297 is the gold reserve. To-day the debt statement shows that the interest-bearing debt on June 1 was $635,031,080, an increase for the month of only $490. The statement of cash in the treasury is as follows: gold, $148,067,816; silver, $512,194,954; paper, $106,081,172; bonds, minor coin, $16,839,329; against which there are demand liabilities aggregating $665,428,928, making the decrease in the available cash balance for the month $7,243,450.

Court of Appeals to Take a Hand.

CHICAGO, June 1.—The United States court of appeals decided to-day that the appeal of the labor organizations from Judge Jenkins' order forbidding them to quit work on the Northern Pacific railroad, will not go direct to the United States supreme court as was suggested by the counsel for the company's receivers. Judges Harlan, Woods and Bunn decided they would not certify the record in the case of the supreme court, but would hear the arguments on the appeal themselves.

Mr. Power's Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Senator Power to-day reported from the committee on public lands the bill heretofore introduced by himself to extend the time for making final payments on land entries under the preemption act. The extension is for one year and is to be granted only in cases when entrymen are unable to make final payments from causes which they cannot control.

Herbert Didn't Come This Way.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The statement that Count Herbert Bismarck was a passenger on the Normania, which arrived last night, is erroneous. He embarked on the Normania at Hamburg but disembarked at Southampton.

On Emperor William's Check.

BERLIN, June 1.—The Reichs Anzeiger publishes notices issued by Professors Bergman, Lentholt and Sehlang saying that at Potsdam to-day they had removed a small encysted tumor from the emperor's cheek.

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 1.—An order has been issued for a special session of the grand jury on June 8, because of the Cripple Creek affair.

KICKING A KING'S SHINS.

The Doctor Hit Hard but the Monarch Got Mixed on the signals.

Whatever may be said of the kings of Hawaii, they had a true sense of royal dignity, as this story will show.

Once Lord George Paulet, in command of the British man-of-war Cressy, was cruising in the Pacific. He ran into the harbor of Honolulu, and took a look at the islands. He liked them. Accordingly, with the true British instinct, he decided to annex them to the extensive dominions of the Britannic majesty. He landed a company of marines, hoisted the union jack, fired a cannon, broke a bottle of wine, and announced that Hawaii was a British colony.

There were not many whites in Hawaii then, and the native government was not strong enough to resist Great Britain. The few whites there were chiefly American missionaries. But they were the genuine New England stock. They never lacked for back bone. One of them, Dr. Judd, the father of A. F. Judd, the present chief justice of Hawaii, was a man of singular courage and great mental force. He was the first white man to hold office in Hawaii, and was then prime minister of the king, Kamehameha, third of the name. In fact, Dr. Judd was the real ruler of the kingdom.

Dr. Judd prepared to visit Washington to induce the United States to interfere in behalf of Hawaii. But before he could go Admiral Thomas, in command of the British squadron in the Pacific, arrived at Honolulu. He disavowed the act of Lord Paulet and ordered that the British flag be taken down. Soon afterwards his government approved his action.

Admiral Thomas became an immense favorite with the Hawaiians. They thought there was nobody like him. The king decided to give him a splendid banquet at the palace. But the knowledge of topics such as Admiral Thomas would be likely to discuss at the banquet was limited. So Dr. Judd arranged that the king and the admiral should sit opposite each other, while he would sit beside the king. Admiral Thomas, who was known to be fond of talking, was to be allowed to monopolize the conversation. The king was to say merely yes or no. Dr. Judd was to kick him on the right shin when he was to say yes and on the left when he should say no.

The afternoon before the banquet the doctor coached the king carefully and the king said he understood.

The banquet was really sumptuous. The admiral was much pleased with the well-meant and well-cooked compliment to himself. The king also was in his best humor.

By and by, when the edge was taken off appetite, the admiral began to talk about public topics, and frequently he would appeal to the king to know if he didn't think just that way, too.

At the first question Dr. Judd kicked the king's right shin under the table and the king promptly answered no to the admiral's question. According to the prearranged code he should have said yes. But a minute later the king got mixed again and the doctor's kicks confused him more than ever.

The king made so many mistakes that the doctor was busy throughout the banquet kicking his shins. And the vexations at the king's mistakes caused him to kick pretty hard, too.

But the king was a king, sure enough mindful of his dignity. He never kicked back, nor did he cast one cross look at Dr. Judd. He merely listened to the admiral and smiled and said "no" when he should have said "yes," and "yes" when he should have said "no." The signals were inextricably mixed in his mind.

When the banquet was over it was found that the king's shoes were full of blood, and his shins were gashed like a freshly pounded tenderloin steak by the toes of Dr. Judd's stout boots. He had to be carried to his bed and he was so lame he could not walk again for two weeks.

But the king was the right sort. He had true grit. He said to Dr. Judd, in Hawaiian:

"You did right. It was my fault. I got mixed—but you kicked pretty hard."
